

Friday 3rd April 2009

Blanco Catering

Dear Steve, Julie, Lucy

and all your workers in the background and those that made it happen up-front ...

Finally the garden has returned to its usual style, all the left-over goods have been returned to their owners, the guests from near and far have all gone home and life is just reverting to normal ...

And the Night of Nights is starting to recede into our treasure trove of memories.
What a swell party we had ...

What we won't forget is that a lot of the night's success was due to the fantastic input of our caterers.

Indeed, well before the party we knew we had chosen the right people to deliver great food, great presentation, great organisation and great service.

If we were going to have a celebration, it had to be enjoyable for us too ... not only on the night, but the pre-planning and preparations ... and the clean-up afterwards.

We were not disappointed ... and from the many comments in the thankyou notes that have since been arriving from the guests, nor were they ...

The food we had chosen was truly gourmet, beautifully presented and the wait staff added their own attractive, friendly but professional input into the night's success – not least due to the sergeant-major skills of Julie – wow! Julie's amazing control of the evening's proceedings did not go un-noticed by many guests either – they were mightily impressed, and we are confident everyone thought everything about the food and service was superb. And those guests that had special requirements were most appreciative how they were quietly made to feel extra special ... which is how we wanted it.

As you know, we have used Blanco for a cocktail party before, catering for the multitudes with us at a Tasting Australia event ... and this event ...

Right now, we dare not even think of planning anything ... the simple life is looking really good! But if - and it will be surely when - we have another event - we can confidently say in view of the above ... Three Strikes in a Row ... and you are In!

Our sincere thanks and appreciation,

Heather and Joe Ceravolo